EXPLORE Esprit's season begins and ends with World Premieres of pieces by many of Canada's most esteemed composers. Our October concert, along with music by Pärt and Schafer, includes a fantastic and little-known Somers work that we'll record for a new Somers CD. As well, we'll play music from our most successful CD to date – Tabuh-Tabuhan. Brilliant works for large orchestra form an entire concert of Canadian Premieres in November. These pieces, by Adès (ENGLAND), Brant (U.S.A.) and Keuris (THE NETHERLANDS), encompass the broadest spectrum of colour, form and atmosphere found in contemporary music. Artistic directors from the Société de musique contemporaine du Québec and Esprit will have music featured in our March concert. The programme will be repeated in Montreal. Our last concert in May serves as the finale for Esprit's 2005 New Wave Composers Festival highlighting today's best newly established composers in several days of performances, forums and workshops. Esprit's guest artist line-up is exceptional and second to none in Canada. The word explore only suggests a beginning for your experience of Esprit. I welcome you to join us for a season of musical splendour, magic, intricacy, elegance, inspiration, power, humour, sensuality, contemplation, spirituality, vigour and virtuosity – the very ingredients of Esprit's exploration. alex pauk

about esprit orchestra

Esprit Orchestra was formed in 1983 by Music Director/Conductor Alex Pauk to champion new music by both Canadian and international composers. Now in its 22nd year, Toronto-based Esprit remains Canada's only orchestra devoted to contemporary classical music. Each season, this innovative orchestra presents premieres of music by leading international composers and commissions and performs both established and younger Canadian composers in a 4-concert Subscription Series featuring outstanding guest soloists. Esprit concerts are recorded for broadcast by CBC Radio Two's Two New Hours, making Esprit's distinctive music and spine-tingling performances available to patrons worldwide. With CBC Records, Pauk and Esprit have produced a selection of high-quality compact discs showcasing the best of their repertoire.

22nd season special events toward a living art

esprit's education programme for young people

For the past 20 years, Canada's leader in the performance of current orchestral music has proudly presented educational events and performances for young people. Thanks to generous support from The SOCAN Foundation, The Henry White Kinnear Foundation, the Catherine and Maxwell Meighen Foundation, the Julie-Jiggs Foundation, Toronto Arts Council, Ontario Arts Council, and Canada Council for the Arts, students experience educational events at no cost. Esprit's Music Director, musicians and composers look forward to meeting many young guests this season. For details, visit www.espritorchestra.com, or e-mail info@espritorchestra.com.

in your space

esprit orchestra community performances

A special project backed by the Canada Council for the Arts, In Your Space takes Esprit's musicians out of the concert halls and puts them into Toronto's galleries, libraries and other public spaces. It's your chance to attend a mini-concert free of charge, sample new music, experience the orchestra in non-typical formations and settings, and directly discuss the music with the composers and performers. Call 416-815-7887 to discover how you can enjoy your free In Your Space performance this season.
